From now on, our reputation for timeless luxury will go hand in hand with a deliberate social and ecological responsibility. That's why we source the finest materials and factories for our timeless products. At Carlisle etcetera, sustainability means that you can wear our pieces for years, even decades, to come. RECYCLED POLYESTER Polyester represents 49% of all apparel production LYOCCELL Softer than silk and cooler than linen Our "green" polyester is fabricated from clear plastic water bottles that are selected, purified, chipped, heated and spun into fresh yarns. We then crimp the yarn, giving it a lofty engineered softness and fluffy texture. The use of recycled polyester takes far less energy and reduces dependence on petroleum as the raw material for fabrics. This reused material can be recycled endlessly, and at a quality as high as the original material, making recycled polyester a fully sustainable, closed-loop system.
